

POINTS FOR EDUCATION SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM RECAP

During the 2004 New England Patriots Season, City Lights Electrical and its suppliers teamed up with WBCN and the Patriots Radio Network to 'Light Up' student-athletes futures with The Points For Education Scholarship program!

Here's How it Worked:

For every regular season game, City Lights Electrical and its suppliers asked New England area student-athletes to write into WBCN and tell us their achievements both in the classroom, and on the field. WBCN selected one male or female student athlete as the winner for that game. One male and one female student athlete were awarded a $5,000 scholarship each toward college at the conclusion of the season.

The grand prize winners were Rebecca DiPietro of Portsmouth, RI; and James McGlaughlin of Foxboro, MA. At the end of the season, City Lights Electrical and John Deady presented a check to each winner with some help from The Patriots. New England Patriots offensive lineman Dan Koppen and Joe Andruzzi were present for the congratulatory dinner at the Funway Café in Foxboro in January, and to talk with the kids.
